

Instead of asking,
'What can I get from life?', watch what happens when you ask,
'What can I give?'

- Dan Zadra -

You can't finish
a book that never gets started.

- Dan Zadra -

'I love you, little one,'
the father said softly
to the baby in his arms.
And the baby smiled and seemed to understand.

- Dan Zadra -

A weak cause
requires lots of words, but a good
Vision statement
only a few.

- Dan Zadra -

Go for a walk.
Inspiration is right outside
your door.

- Dan Zadra -

All other things
being equal,
customers always
go where they feel
massively liked
or loved.

- Dan Zadra -

Form the habit of saying yes to your own potential. Allow yourself
the freedom to grow
and expand.

- Dan Zadra -

Know in your heart
that you are far
bigger than anything that
can happen to you.

- Dan Zadra -

Have faith.
Hang in there.
Things fall apart,
so that things
can fall together.

- Dan Zadra -

Hope comes furnished with light and heat.

- Dan Zadra -

If dreams and goals can keep me
alive, I'm going
to live to be 105.

- Dan Zadra -

If you're not romancing your
customer right now,
be very concerned
about who is.

- Dan Zadra -

In Asia, when people lie about
their age, they usually claim to be older
than they really are.

- Dan Zadra -

Imitators copy
an idea;
innovators
build on it.

- Dan Zadra -

Instead of
'she almost,'
let the world say
about you,
'she did.'

- Dan Zadra -

Some of the best things in life are expressed
in the simplest words:
purpose and meaning;
friends and family;
caring and community;
love and work;
appreciation and
gratitude.

- Dan Zadra -

It's human nature
to confuse 'bigger'
and 'more'
with 'better.'

- Dan Zadra -

Companies, great
and small, do rise
and fall one
customer at a time.

- Dan Zadra -

Don't waste time in regret. You are the person you are now,
not the person you
were then.

- Dan Zadra -

I made you
a kite so
you would have to look up.
